

For Immediate Release

For more information, contact Ruth Powell.

July 24, 2008

ABC Manufacturing Rekindles an Ohio Tradition

MALTA, Ohio — When one door closed, ABC Manufacturing opened the proverbial window.

Last December, ABC Manufacturing acquired Malta Windows and Doors. Founded in 1889 as the Sash and Door Factory, it is the second oldest continuous window manufacturer in the US. The company has weathered several transitions and name changes, one in 1969 and another in 2001, before ABC Manufacturing purchased the company in 2007.

“The acquisition of Malta Manufacturing was an opportunity to rekindle the long tradition and reputation of Malta Windows,” said ABC Manufacturing founder and CEO Wade Benjamin, a Malta native. “This company is part of our community and should remain as such. On top of that, there’s great potential here to be competitive in both the new construction and replacement window markets.”

Malta Windows & Doors produces high quality, affordable wood windows and doors available in primed wood, aluminum-clad and vinyl-clad. All products are backed by an industry leading lifetime warranty.

Its double hung-window has been improved with the addition of an inverted block and tackle balance, and easy-tilt latches. Upgrades to casement windows include a nesting crank handle and a concealed lock. New doors feature an in-swing, and sliding French and narrow stile doors. Additionally, all aluminum clad windows and doors are available in 18 colors at no additional charge. The product line is currently being tested and certified to ensure compliance with Energy Star standards.

To manufacture windows and doors faster and more efficiently, the facilities at Malta Windows and Doors have undergone an overhaul, which began as soon as the acquisition was complete.

“We’ve remodeled the entire facility,” said Benjamin. “It was built in the 1940s and was long overdue for equipment upgrades, cosmetic and structural improvements. Our new facility is a place employees are proud to work and serves as a great showpiece for the company and the investment we’ve made in our product line.”

The facility now houses state-of-the-art equipment including sash clamps, tenoners, molders, a powder coat line and a dust collection system. New offices and a 4,000-square-foot showroom allow Malta to sell directly to local contractors and other buyers.

For more information, contact Ruth Powell at (740) 962-3350, ruth.powell@maltawoodwindows.com or www.maltawindows.net.

About Malta Wood Windows & Doors: For either residential homes or light commercial buildings, Malta Wood Windows & Doors are built with the highest quality materials and standards to give you a beautiful, natural-looking window designed to last.

Our wood windows feature many options to help you choose the best fit for your business, home and lifestyle. We offer a wide variety of standard sizes and styles in double-hung, casement and awning windows and we will design and build custom windows to fit your needs. Our warm, natural wood interior frames can be painted or stained to match any decor. All Malta wood windows are designed for easy cleaning and maintenance.

Malta Windows makes it easy to replace drafty, energy-wasting windows and sashes with Classic View aluminum-clad wood replacement windows and double-hung replacement sash systems.

Patio doors are made to last with a unique bolted together panel construction that eliminates sagging. They are available in natural, primed wood or aluminum clad finish in sliding and swinging style.